

Cutting the Notch High

We've cut a high notch for November business. With a store filled with good, reliable merchandise, with styles brought right down to the minute, with selling enthusiasm pervading every section, with clean methods and low prices, there should be but little difficulty in reaching the notch. Thus we swing into the Winter's business with full confidence as to results, and such attractive values as the following will do much to bring about those results:

NEW VESTINGS FOR WAISTS.

From the time cotton yarns began to be mercerized wonders have been revealed in cotton fabrics, until today you can buy cotton fabrics the shades and pattern designs of which rival the best silks. We have them and new ones arriving daily. Prices, 25c to $1.00 per yard. Special values in small pieces to close.

13—SUITS—13.

Just an odd lot of left-overs from the past season. Many of them the $15.00 kind, but we want to clean up the lot and the price will be, while they last, only $9.98.

COTTON AND WOOL BLANKETS.

Many wait until the nip of the frost before buying their bed coverings. The frost makes no impression upon those who sleep under the kind we sell. 10 and 11-4 White and Grey Blankets, 49c to $2.98; 11-4 Wool Blankets, $2.98 to $11.00 per pair. Remember we sell the famous California Blankets.

Mrs. Cummings' China will be on exhibition at the store during the holidays.

The Howard opera house orchestra of Burlington needs no introduction to the people of Barre. All are cordially invited to come and enjoy themselves.

LONDON VIEWS OF SITUATION.

Declares That Powers Will Follow Our Lead in Panama Matters.

London, Nov. 9.—Some surprise is expressed in official quarters here at the quick action taken by the Washington government in announcing its attitude regarding the new republic of Panama which, though not accepted as a formal recognition, is universally taken as tantamount thereto. Particular interest is attached to Secretary of State Hay's expression that Panama has "accomplished" its independence, and there is a frank expression of the difficulty which faces any European government in recognizing a revolutionary body until it has proved itself able to hold its own. The view taken as expressed by a British official to a press representative is:

"Before anything formal can be done the people of Panama must vote to separate themselves from their former allegiance and must prove their ability to maintain or rather the inability of the Colombian government to upset their government. Colombia could then have no protest recognized by moral or international law against the powers of the world recognizing Panama formally. Of course if the United States sends a note to the powers intimating their belief that Panama has practically established or, as Secretary Hay says, 'accomplished' its independence and expresses the intention of upholding Panama in that condition there is not the slightest doubt that every power will formally recognize what would then be the obvious independence of that state."

Rejoicing on the Isthmus.

Colon, Nov. 9.—The public manifestations of joy continue throughout the length and breadth of the isthmus. It is not forced enthusiasm, but a real expression of joy, that the population is once for all "delivered from the yoke of their oppressors." All classes of the population go arm in arm, and the enemies of yesterday are to be seen embracing each other. To this picture there is no shadow. Two members of the provisional government of the republic arrived here from Panama, accompanied by a band of music, and were given a most enthusiastic reception by the populace. The foreign population of the isthmus apparently are as joyful as the natives over the inauguration of the new regime. The arrival of the United States cruiser Boston at Panama has been made the occasion of much rejoicing, especially since the news of the recognition of the new republic by the United States has reached the isthmus.
